TROUBLES OF BUSINESS MEN. Seligman, May & Co., wholesale dealers in clothing at Ko. 649 Broadway, who falled about six months ago, have at least obtained a settlement with their creditors. The business will be carried on under the direction of three trustees selected by the creditors, namely, Charles J. Canda, vice-president of the Western National Bunk; William H. Oakley, president of the Citizens' National Bank, and P. C. Lounsbury. president of the Merchants' Exchange National Bank. They will sell off the stock and realize on the other assets, and pay the creditors furty cents on the dellar out of the proceeds, the surplus to be turned over to the firm. Certain of the creditors who held out against a settlement got an additional amount in cash, making in the aggregate from 70 to 100 cents on the dollar, by consent of the creditors who accepted the agreement, a fund of $40,000 being raised this purpo e. The total liabilities of the firm were $586,800, and actual assets, $341,838.

He engaged in diamond cutting by a new process of his own invention until last spring, when he gave it up and started a retail store at No. 330 Fifth-ave. The Habilities are $67,000, normal assets $80,000, actual assets $71,000.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STORY.

The arrest of young George McGovern and his removal to the Elmira Reformatory, on the technical grounds that he had violated the terms of his parole. aused much indignation among persons who were acquainted with his parents in Morton-st. It was said that he had led an honest life since his release from the reformatory in September, 1886, and that it was an ontrage to send him back to the institution because he had fulled to report at the rooms of the Prison Association once a month. Inspector Byrnes told reporters at Police Headquarters last evening that he did not believe young McGovern was entitled to much sympathy. The youth was sent to the reformatory for robbing the house of Senator Bradley. At his trial he declared that he never had been arrested before, but one of Inspector Byrnes's men had caught him picking pockets in Sixth-ave., with school-books under his arm. Soon after he was paroled from the reformatory, the inspector said, he was arrested for stealing a watch and pleaded guilty under an as-sumed name. He was sent to the pententiary for two years, and that was why he coundn't report at the Prison Association rooms. Mr. Byrnes said that McGovern's parents knew that he was in the peni-

RAILROAD INTERESTS.

EFFORTS TO COMBINE THE RAILROADS. THE WESTERN MANAGERS APPARENTLY SUS-PICIOUS OF MR. MIDGLEY'S PLAN.

Chicago, Dec. 15 (Special).-A local paper assert that strong efforts are still being made to induce the callways to adopt the trust plan, which is generally The amended plan is to credited here to Jay Gould. give up the clearing house feature of the scheme. A consolidation scheme is to be tried and the traffic affairs of the various roads are to be placed in charge of a board of control. Mr. Midgley, for the last two or three weeks, has been busy as a beaver trying to induce the presidents and general managers of the various Western roads to attend a meeting in New-York on December 19 to consider the new proposi tion. Presidents and general managers of the West ern roads emphatically declare that they will not at tend the meeting, nor join in any arrangement Mr. Gould may propose. One of the presidents, who was called upon by Mr. Midgley a few days ago, informed that gentleman that if Mr. Gould wanted to have communication with him, he could do so per-sonally. Other high Western officials have been equally emphatic in letting Mr. Midgley know that me liation between them and Mr. Gould is anything but agreeable.

RAILWAY BUILDING IN MEXICO.

Chicago, Dec. 15 .- A dispatch from Matamoras "Advices from the City of Mexico say that the Federal Government is disposed to do all that is possible to force the early completion of the Matamoras and Monterey Railroad direct to the latter city; also that there is a favorable disposition toward the scheme for a railroad line from Bagdad, at the mouth of the Rie Grande, to this city, and a good chance that the charter for the same will be granted. The idea, however, of closing the 'Zona Libre' and all the frontier custom houses as far up as Guerrero is not looked upon with favor. President Diaz says he sees no constitutional right to take away the privileges of the river towns for the benefit of Matamoras."

ST. LOUIS CAR LINES SOLD TO CHICAGO MEN St. Louis, Dec. 15.—The sale of a number of St. Iouis street railways to Chicago capitalists was consummated at noon to-day at the Southern Hotel. The purchasers named are C. B. Holmes and L. C. Hutchinson, of Chicago. The roads sold are the Union, Citizens', Cass Avenue, and Northern Central. Formal transfer will be made Tuesday at noon. The purchase price is $3,000,000. The money will be paid in cash see is $3,000,000. The money will be paid in cash stockholders, at the Third National Bank, as raply as they turn in stock. Eleven-twelfths of the och of the Union, nine-tenths of that of the Citizens', cluding the Northern central, and all of the stock of a Cass Avenue line are sold.

TO STRAIGHTEN WEST SHORE TRACKS. An agreement has been made between President Depew, of the New-York Central and Hudson River Ratiroad Company, and General Serrell, of the Hudson Suspension Bridge and New-England Railway Com-pany, by which the former is to straighten the tracks of the West Shore road at Fort Clinton, so that the bridge company may be enabled to creet their westerly tower at the water front. Right of way over the bridge company's property at Fort Clinton is conceded to the New York Central Road in place of the space how occupied by the West Shore's tracks, and it straightening of the latter will much improve the route from the drawbridge at Popolepen Creek it lona Island.

BUYING UP THE ST. LOUIS STREET LINES. St. Louis, Dec. 15.—The completion of the street railway deal, involving over $3,500,000, has created a sensation here. President C. B. Holmes and C. L. Hutchinson, of the South Side Street Railway Company of Chicago, are at the head of the syndicate into whose hands the property passes. They are asso-ciated with a number of capitalists of Chicago and the East, but their names are the only ones which have appeared in the deal. These gentlemen are said to hold a controlling interest in the railroad systems of Indianapolis, Chicago, Keoliuk and San Francisco, with the ultimate object of obtaining possession of the street car lines of most of the large cities in the coun-In almost every instance the syndicate has changed the motive power of their roads as rapidly as they get hold of them, from the slow going horses to the cable or electric motor. They have informed Mr. Waish of their intention to improve their newly acquired properties here by fitting them with a complete equipment of modern appliances.

Philadelphia and Eric, at Jehnsonburg.

In railroad circles here it is reported co-day that important changes are looked for in the management of the Ballimore and Ohio Railroad in the event of Mr. Mayer's election. It is said that ex-Vice-President Thomas M. King may be returned to office, also that George De B. Reim, of this city, who was recently elected to the Board of Directors, will be made second vice-president, and that fourth Vice-President Lord may be promoted.

Officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad deny the report that it is proposed to abandon the Delaware and Raritan Canal. The consent of the New-Jersey Legis-lature and of the stockholders is necessary to enable company to cease operating the canal, which is now unprofitable.

OBITUARY.

DR. RUFUS L. WILDER.

Dr. Rufus L. Wilder, chief bookkeeper of the Department of Charities and Correction, died suddenly vesterday morning at his home, No. 113 West One-hundred and thirty-third st. He had been apparently in good health for several months, although not a strong man. Last winter he was prostrated by a severe bronchial affection, and was threatened with pneumonia, but he believed that he had entirely revered from this attack and had been engaged steadily with his duties since that time. he was at his office all day, in good spirits During the night he was taken with severe coughing and a hemorrhage. He was too weak to attempt to go down-town yesterday morning, and word was sent to the Department of Charities to that effect. An hour later he became worse, and the nearest physician was sent for, but Dr. Wilder died befor reached the house, at about 10:30 o'clock.

Dr Wirder was forty-three years old. He was born in Wolcester County, Mass., where his father was a prominent physician. He was graduated at Harvard and subsequently studied medicine at the Harvard Medical College. Afterward he attended a course of lectures at the Dublin Maternity Hospital He gave his attention mainly to the practice of surgery, and on his return to this country began to practise in the city. About the same time he be came interested in newspaper work, and was engaged first on the city staff of "The New-York Sun. From "The Sun" he went to The Tribune in 1875 where for eight years he was one of the most active and capable members of the city staff.

He resigned his position on The Tribune in Febcuary 1883, to take the place then vacant as ch bookkeeper in the Department of Charities. This place he has held with credit. His position was bookkeeper in the Department of Charmes. This place he has held with credit. His position was one that made an intimate familiarity with all the details of the various listitutions of the department necessary, and his training thoroughly qualified him for the work. There was probably no one in the department, Dr. Simmons, one of the Commissioners, said yesterday, with as ready and accurate a knowledge of all its business. On Thursday Dr. Wilder was called before the Senate Committee and testified with regard to the supplies and ma 'echaritable institutions of the city.

Dr. Wilder was of a warm, congenial and social temperament, and his large circle of friends all over the city heard with surprise and greef of his sudden death. He was an active Mason, a member of sane Lodge, and he had served on several occasions as Recording secretary of the Grand Lodge of this State. He was a member of the County Medical Society and of the Press Club, and was also a member of the Tammany General Committee. He leaves a wife land one son, comfortably provided for. In addition to other property, he held a policy for $10,000 in the Equitable Life insurance Company.

The funeral is expected to be held to-morrow or on Tuesday. At the office of the Department of Chartties the place of Dr. Wilder was filled temporarily yesterday by Charles Beun, the first assistant bookineeper.

EDWIN SALTER Forked River, N. J., Dec. 13.—Edwin Salter, the first Free Sott member of the New Jersey Legislature from Ocean County, died here Salter was for many years in the Treasury Depart ment at Washington; was Washington correspondent for a number of New-Jersey papers, during and after the war, and was an anthority in the Historical Society upon the history of New-Jersey, the local Indian nomenclature, and the geneaus, of the early settlers of the State.

THE REV. JOB LIGHT.

Reading, Dec. 15.-The Rev. Job Light, paster of Zion's Church, this city, and one of the most prominent ministers in the United Brethren denomination of this country, dropped dead at his home last night after conducting an exciting revival service in his church. The subject of his last sermon was, "Where will you spend your eternity! I will spend mine in Heaven." The deceased man was forty-nine years old, and had served congregations in Philadelphia, Reading, Harrisburg and other places. He was presiding elder of the Baltimore district four years, and was thirty years in the ministry. Re was graduated at the Westonville College in Obio.

ALEXANDER B. DAVIS. Alexander B. Davis, once a wealthy mining specu later and until the time of his death a partner of Vernon Seaman, who is engaged in the same business at No. 18 Broadway, was found dead in his apart-ments at No. 445 Hicks-st., Brooklyn, on Friday evening. The discovery was made by his partner, who became alarmed because of Davis's failure to appear at the office on Friday. Davis was sixty-four years old. He was born in New-York, but went to Colorado in his early days. Twenty years ago he sold the Little Chief mine for $1,000,000. At one time he was Attorney-General of the State of Minnesota, and is said to have built the first large hydraulic flume in the State of California. He leaves a widow and facily at present living in Denver, Col., and E. P. Herman was his business partner in that city at the time of his death. His body was removed to Hopper's undertaking establishment, at Court and Joralemon sts., Brooklyn, by permission of Coroner Roomey and will probably be taken to Denver for burial.

MRS GARDNER LREWER.

Boston, Lee. 15 (Special).-Mrs. Gardner Brewer, widow of one of Boston's most successful and public pirited merchants, is dead, age eighty-five years. Mrs. Brewer bad for several years been confined by lilness to her home, No. 29 Beacon-st., where she had athered a wonderful collection of paintings, statuary and other art treasures, gathered largely in her four teen months' visit to Europe, soon after the war Mrs. Brewer was very charitable. While a member of several benevolent societies, she preferred to keep her charities unknown, and none but the recipients can ever be aware of their number and extent.
